Cool game. I wish it was a little bit more polished, but it is still a fun game.. I'm Refunding the game but here is a quick review because the game is not bad only that it is extremely short. The game itself is a simple but fun On-rails Shooter. There are some destructible objects and explosions. You are standing always on a moving platform, and enemies will appear through all the trip until you reach your objective. Gameplay involves switching between shields, machine gun, single shot and lock-on Missiles.

Graphics are good as you can see, and there are some fun moments. No bugs so far and I played using SS 1.5 (max value from the game) It looks casual, not bad, but still casual gameplay and only has 3 Levels, that's it. It has another ARCADE MODE to replay it completely after finish it, with score rules like Arcades but these are the same levels :( I'm about to refund it, only for being so short.. It's an ok rail shooter, but you can run through the entire story campaign in less than an hour, and there's not much else to it.. Despite of the claims about the game being short (which in fact is), the performance is fantastic (a rare case on indie VR titles) and the gameplay interesting. Will update my review if needed.. I'm kinda mixed on this just because the game doesn't have gun sound, unless this is bug i literally have no sound on the guns or getting shot at,(so much for immersion) and the AI kinda just stands there. So if you feel this is an error. Fix the damn game sounds.. Cool game. I wish it was a little bit more polished, but it is still a fun game.. The world is enslaved by machines, people are on the brink of extinction, artificial intelligence has decided that it no longer needs its creator. The plot is painfully familiar, but it is always interesting. Take the same movie franchise Terminator or a cult role-playing game with action elements like System Shock. The game takes us back to 2232. where the fourth world war, people and machines are going on. Since the person is too weak in body, it was decided to create a hybrid, with the body of the machine and the human brain, its role is getting to us and we have to put an end to the evil artificial intelligence. Pleases visual composing, very stylish and doesn't cut eyes. I advise you to try the game, it is very dynamic and pleasant.. Actionpacked Railshooter with a beautiful, futuristic level design. It's a shame your purpose is to destroy it, even if its pure fun to use the partly destructable environment against your enemies. Lots of situations where its hard to decide what to shoot first. Beside the story mode, you can play the arcade mode where you get points for destroying your targets to compete in a global highscore or against your friends. Tutorial, even though not really needed as the gameplay is very intuitive, exists and is nicely done as a virtual shooting range. If you are looking for a VR shooter, you found it. It definitely will keep you entertained for a while.
